

Internship Job Description Policy & Advocacy - International Private and Public Finance (IPPF)

Position Title: International Private and Public Finance (IPPF) Intern

Reports To: Policy & Advocacy Officer, International Private and Public Finance

Role Overview

The International Public Policy & Finance (IPPF) Intern will focus on global financial systems and their impact on development in Africa. The intern will assist in analyzing international financial trends, policy shifts, and their implications for African economies. The role will involve conducting research, preparing briefs, and contributing to policy recommendations aimed at fostering inclusive growth and financial stability. Additionally, the intern will participate in advocacy efforts targeting international financial institutions.

Key Responsibilities

- Support research on international public and private financing trends, with a focus on Public-Private Partnerships (PPPs) and Foreign Direct Investments (FDIs) in Africa.
- Assist in monitoring the role of non-traditional bilateral lenders and development finance institutions in African debt management.
- Prepare policy briefs and presentations that analyse the role of credit rating agencies and other global debt architecture gatekeepers.
- Contribute to AFRODAD's advocacy efforts for better regulations in international finance, focusing on sustainability and debt implications.
- Provide logistical support for stakeholder engagements, conferences, and events related to IPPF.
- Assist with administrative tasks, including scheduling, correspondence, and event planning.

Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in Finance, Economics, International Development, or a related field.
- Strong interest in international finance, development cooperation, and debt management.
- Strong writing, communication, and organisational skills.
- Ability to work collaboratively in a diverse team environment.

Learning Outcomes

- Understand the complex dynamics of international finance and its impact on African debt sustainability.
- Develop research and analysis skills in the field of development finance.
- Gain exposure to advocacy and stakeholder engagement in international policy processes.
